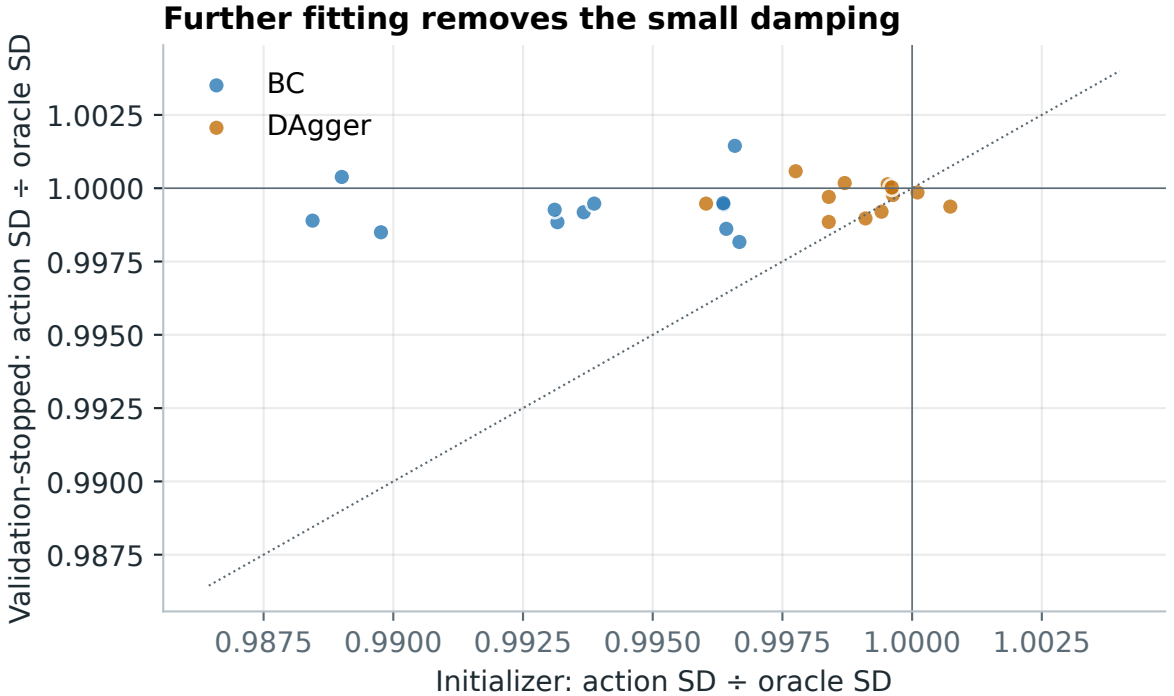
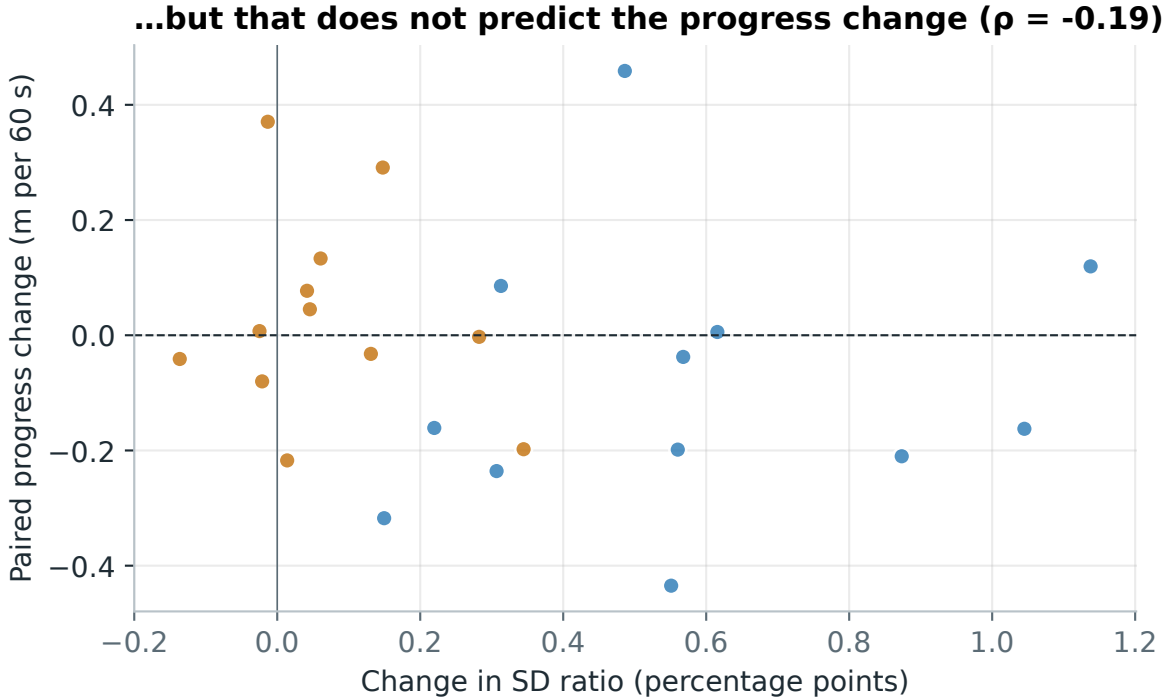
Supplementary: does losing action damping explain the small progress losses? Not in these models





One point per varied extended/initializer pair (24), sampled suite, per-step traces. Spearman p = 0.39. SD ratio = mean over the 16 actions of SD(learner) ÷ SD(oracle label at the same states), median over 30 runs. These initializers were already close to 1, so the test has limited range.